As part of the application process, XLCSE must always be provided with the personal data required to carry out the application process and assess the professional suitability.

The processing of personal data is based mainly on the purpose of taking steps at the request of the data subject (i.e., the job applicant) prior to entering into a contract. The primary legal basis for this is Art. 6 (1) (b) GDPR.

In individual cases, we also process your personal data to protect our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of third parties. The legal basis thereof is Art. 6 (1) (f) GDPR. This may be particularly necessary in the following cases:

- to guarantee IT security and IT operations including testing (where not required for the performance of the contract already),
- for the prevention and prosecution of criminal offenses, unless this is already subject to a statutory obligation,
- for risk or business management, internal communication and other administrative purposes, particularly for the further development of internal processes.

The processing of sanction-related information is based on a legal obligation within the meaning of Article 6 (1) (c) GDPR according to which we are required to match the data of our contractual partners (which also includes our employees) against corresponding sanctions lists to ensure that no funds or other economic resources are made available to sanctioned persons.

However, such a processing will only occur if your application has been accepted and the employment contract is about to be concluded.

Subject to the applicability of other legal bases such as Art. 9 (2) (b) GDPR, the processing of special categories of personal data takes place on the basis of your consent as referred to in Art. 9 (2) (a) GDPR.

Where we wish to process your personal data for a purpose not mentioned above, we will inform you in advance within the framework of our legal obligations.

In principle, only the persons and departments (e.g. specialist department, works council, representative for disabled people) receive the personal data that they need for the fulfilment of our contractual and legal obligations.

Additionally, we also rely to certain extent on external service providers to fulfil our contractual and legal obligations.

Furthermore, we may also transmit your personal data to other recipients, insofar as there is a legal obligation to notify. Such recipients include, for instance, licensing and regulatory authorities.

MANDATORY NATURE OF DATA COLLECTION AND THE POSSIBLE CONSEQUENCES OF FAILURE TO PROVIDE SUCH DATA

Some information collected in the application is mandatory in order for the data controllers to be able to evaluate your application or to send you the various job offers offered by the data controllers. Fields marked with an asterisk (*) in the application are mandatory where others are optional.

If you do not provide this mandatory information, you will not be able to be called back by recruiters or to receive the various job offers presented by the data controllers.

THE SOURCE OF THE PERSONAL DATA IN CASE OF INDIRECT COLLECTION

When you are an employee of an AXA entity, we will collect data relating to you from existing human resources databases.

Another source of data may come from LinkedIn when the candidate applies for job roles in AXA on LinkedIn website.

RECIPIENTS OR CATEGORIES OF RECIPIENTS AND NON-EU TRANSFERS

The data controller will communicate your personal data only to identified and authorized recipients.

In addition to any recipients set out in the relevant Country-Specific Privacy Notices as set out above, these recipients include:

- AXA Group Operations (France) in charge of the integration of the platform and the management of IT support;
- Local AXA entities: authorized persons involved in the recruitment process such as human resources (recruiters only), manager(s) involved in your recruitment process;
- AXA Group Operations (Portugal), subcontractor of AXA Group Operations and in charge of the processing of requests to exercise rights;
- iCIMS (United States, United Kingdom, Germany, Ireland) and its subcontractors, in charge of the implementation, use and maintenance of the platform ;
- LinkedIn Recruiter System Connect (“LinkedIn RSC”);

For countries or jurisdictions that do not provide an adequate level of protection, data controllers provide safeguards to ensure the security and confidentiality of your personal data and frame this transfer either by:

- (i) the Standard Contractual Clauses adopted by the European Commission or similar where required by local regulation (eg. International Data Transfer Agreement in the UK),
- (ii) when your personal data is transferred to other AXA Group entities, by the Group's Binding Corporate Rules (available via the following link - Learn More section: <https://www.axa.com/en/commitments/our-commitments>). These Binding Corporate Rules apply to relationships between entities, including those located in countries that do not provide an adequate level of protection.

In principle, only the persons and departments (e.g. specialist department, works council, representative for disabled people) receive the personal data that they need for the fulfilment of our contractual and legal obligations.

Additionally, we also rely to certain extent on external service providers to fulfil our contractual and legal obligations.

Furthermore, we may also transmit your personal data to other recipients, insofar as there is a legal obligation to notify. Such recipients include, for instance, licensing and regulatory authorities.

DATA RETENTION PERIOD

For the purposes 1) concerning the management of the recruitment process of external candidates, 2) concerning the constitution of a CV-library and the sending of job adverts, 4) concerning the provision of the matching test, and 6) concerning the referral of internal candidates , the data retention period will usually depend on the country of the AXA entity to which you are applying. Please refer to the Appendix below according to your country.

For the purposes 1) concerning the management of the recruitment process of external candidates, the retention period is 30 days after the closure of the job advert in the active data base unless you give us your explicit consent to keep it, for potential future job opportunities 2) concerning the constitution of a CV-library and the sending of job adverts, the data retention period is 6 months after your consent in the active database.

For the purposes 3) concerning the internal recruitment, and 7) concerning GIGs, your data will be kept for the duration of your employment contract.

For the purpose n°5) concerning the administration of the platform, the retention period has be defined following the purposes identified above.

There is a restricted data processing (archiving data) before purging your data, meaning that AXA overwrites the email with a pseudo email and changes the person folder to “restricted processing”. That restricted data processing is strictly necessary for evidence purposes in case of litigation. The record stays in the platform based on country retention period and then it is purged.

DATA SUBJECT RIGHTS

You may exercise the following rights against us at one the addresses referred to above:

- Confirmation and access to personal data stored about you (Art. 15 GDPR).
- Rectification or completion of inaccurate or incomplete data (see also Art. 16 GDPR);
- Immediate erasure of data concerning you (Art. 17 GDPR), or the restriction of the processing in accordance with Art. 18 GDPR, if a deletion should not yet be considered for reasons pursuant to Art. 17(3) GDPR;
- Reception of the data concerning you, and which have been provided by you, in a structured, common, and machine-readable format as well as transmission of those data to other providers/controllers (Art. 20 GDPR);
- Lodge a complaint with one of the supervisory authorities listed below, if you are of the opinion that the processing of personal data relating to you infringes any of the data protection regulations (Art. 77 GDPR).

RIGHT TO OBJECT/RIGHT TO WITHDRAW

Where we, as outlined above, process your data to pursue our legitimate interests, you may object to this processing on grounds relating to your particular situation that contradict data processing.

For processing with the purpose n°4) Provision of the matching test, n°5) Administration of the platform, the purpose n°6) Referral of internal candidates and the purpose n°7) Development of AXA Employees' expertise & skills (GIG) you also have the right to object, at any time, for reasons relating to your particular situation, to the processing of your personal data.

For processing with purpose n°2) Management of CV-library and of the sending of job adverts, please note that you can change your consent type at any time. If you decide to do so, you will no longer receive information about potential new roles. The withdrawal of your consent does not affect the legality of the processing previously carried out.

We recommend declaring your withdrawal directly via “MyMove”, where it will be complied with immediately. However, you are welcome to declare your withdrawal in writing or by email directly via our HR department or Data Protection Officer.

Automated individual decision-making and profiling

We do not use automated processing decision – including profiling – to reach a on the establishment, implementation or termination of an employment relationship.

To the extent to which artificial intelligence is used to structure the professional and qualification-related information transmitted in the CVs as part of the “matching test” described above, these are exclusively upstream administrative processes serving the preparation of a final decision made by a natural person as well as – with regards to the job applicant – the communication of potentially matching vacancies. The final decision remains exclusively with the HR department; no applications are rejected solely based on the automated pre-processing. Thereby, we ensure by means of appropriate internal control procedures, training, and guidelines that the final decision-making processes are not adversely affected by the automated upstream processing and that they remain transparent and auditable at any time
