

Global Programs

In an ever-changing world, multinational businesses require global insurance solutions that meet the constantly evolving regulatory requirements.

Multinational companies today face complex regulatory, tax and administrative challenges when purchasing insurance coverage for their international operations. Increased tax and regulatory scrutiny, rapid expansion into developing markets and the increasing complexity of corporate legal entity structures makes it more important now than ever to design customized, compliant and efficient global insurance solutions for multinational companies. This is where AXA XL can help.
