Mass demonstrations have taken place worldwide in 2019. These protests have been driven by two categories of dissatisfaction; Anti-government sentiment, and social issues, including climate change and violence against women.

BOLIVIA

At least 31 people were killed during anti-government protests against former President Evo Morales in November 2019.

CLARKE

At least 12 people were killed during xenophobic protests against foreign nationals in September 2019.

PUCATTO

Over 480 people have been killed in anti-government protests that began on 1 October.

SUDAN

On 3 June, security forces killed 138 people and injured over 650 others during an anti-government protest in Khartoum.

SOUTH AFRICA

Over 480 people have been killed in anti-government protests that began on 1 October.

PUERTO RICO

Puerto Ricans ousted Governor Ricardo Rosselló in July 2019, amid mass anti-corruption protests.

SOUTH KOREA

Protests sparked by an extradition bill have prompted ongoing demonstrations in Hong Kong since March 2019, with over 2 million people participating in a mass pro-democracy protest on 16 June.

SOUTH KOREA

More than 700 banks and 140 government offices were burned.

ITALY

Over 200,000 protesters demanded the resignation of Prime Minister Andrej Babiš in November 2019, amid ongoing anti-corruption protests.

LEBANON

Over 480 people have been killed in anti-government protests that began on 1 October.